Choose AVI as output format

There are several standards for AVI video, each of them has different features to meet your different demands, below is the details.

H.264/MPEG-4 AVC Video Format(*.avi), this is the extension of MPEG-4 video format, it has a high compression rate which saves your storage space.

AVI-Audio-Video Interleaved(*.avi), this is the most standard AVI, it allows synchronous audio-with-video playback.

Xvid Movie(*.avi) is based on MPEG-4 and developed by open-source organization, it has the DVD-like quality in audio and video.

There are also Loseless AVI and AVI with DV Codes formats, but they are not that mainstream and mostly chosen by video editors. However, if you do not have an idea to choose which one, the AVI-Audio-Video Interleaved format is the safest choice.
